yesterday.

Ex-Ward Man Gannon, nc v on the rolls of the Twenty-fourth Precinct, of which the station-house is in West Sixty-eighth street, was also indicted yesterday, but unless he is extradited from Ireland, he will never be tried. Policeman Conrad Schellinberger, of the Eldridge street station, also gave himself up at the District-Attorney's office this morning, he having been informed that a warrant had been issued for him, upon an indictment found yesterday charging him with assault upon Thomas J. He is one of men who were examined before the Lexow Committee on "Clubbers" Day," about two weeks ago.

Mr. Howe said that he had only a few words to say about Capt. Schmittherger's indictment. The words were these:

"The paper on which the indictment is written was of some value when it was blank.
"It is now utterly worthless.

At 11.15 o'clock Capt. Schmittberger and Officer Schellenberger were brought into Part I. of the Court of General Sessions by Defective-Sergt. Rellly. With Capt. Schmittberger were Mr. Howe and Thomas Smith, of 329 West Fifty-first street, a contractor and basider who have come downtown to go on Schmittberger's bond.

Assistant District-Attorneys Unger and Battle appeared for the iDstrict-Attorney's office.

Mr. Howe and Mr. Battle had a little consultation with Judge Cowing, who had come into the court-room, and then Judge Cowing said that he would hold Schellenberger in $2.000 bail for trial. Capt. Schmittberger's bail, he said, he would hear Mr. Howe upon.

Mr. Howe spoke of Capt. Schmittberger's record of bravery, dilligence and general worthiness. He then said that he believed that the sections $5 and 72 in the indictment did not apply to Capt. When the fire got into the woodwork of the restaurant furnishings it formed a tremendous blaze in what seemed but an instant, and reached the forward part of the building, where a lot of kegs containing liquors were stored, before the firemen arrived.

These furnished the fuel to send the fire through every floor and up through the roof. The passageway thus formed acted as a flue, and for twenty-five minutes the fire was so hot that the firemen could not get near enough to do effective work. In addition to that there was the danger that the walls would fall.

minutes the fire was so hot that the firement could not get near enough to do effective work. In addition to that there was the danger that the walls would fall.

At 8 o'clock the crowd on Broadway heard a cry from the people gathered in Leonard street below the burning building, and a moment later the Leonard street wall crashed into the street, carrying with it what was left of the burning floors.

Chief Bonner at once ordered the firemen into Leonard street, and at such building a half hour later was the front wall and a portion of the rear wall.
